Disclosing counsel shall maintain a copy of all agreements executed by persons to whom Discovery Materials designated pursuant to paragraph 5 have been disclosed, as well as a list of all persons to whom such Discovery Materials have been disclosed. Said lists and executed agreements shall be deemed attorney work product material during the pendency of this action and need only be disclosed by the parties to each other at the final disposition of this action, including any appeal of any judgment herein, or to the Court for an in camera review in connection with any proceeding initiated to enforce compliance, or address noncompliance, with this Protective Order.

10. In the event that any person is asked at a deposition with respect to which a party or non-party asserts that the answer requires the disclosure of Confidential Information, such question shall nonetheless be answered by the witness fully and completely, subject to other objections or instructions asserted by counsel for the party or non-party yielding the deposition. Prior to answering, however, all persons, other than the witness, who are not allowed to obtain Confidential Information pursuant to paragraph 8 of this Protective Order shall leave the room during the time in which this information is disclosed or discussed. Alternatively, or in addition, counsel for the designating party may, within ten (10) business days after receipt of the deposition transcript (and videotape as applicable), notify all other counsel, on the record or in writing, that the information disclosed has been designated pursuant to paragraph 5. Those portions of the deposition that are so designated shall be filed separately and under seal with the Court whenever the deposition is so filed. In order to facilitate such designations, unless otherwise agreed to in writing by the designating party, all deposition transcripts shall be treated as though the entire transcript has been designated pursuant to paragraph 5 until ten (10) business days after receipt of the transcript.

11. Any party wishing to file with the Court any Discovery Materials which have been designated pursuant to paragraph 5, shall file a motion requesting that the documents be kept under seal until further order of the Court; provided, however, that such Discovery Materials shall be available to the Court and counsel of record.

12. The production of any Discovery Materials shall be without prejudice to any claim by the producing party, or producing third person, that such material is protected by any privilege or work product doctrine of the applicable jurisdiction, and no party or third person shall be held to have waived any of its rights under such privilege or doctrine by the inadvertent production of such materials. Counsel for the producing party or third person shall promptly notify all other counsel upon discovery of such inadvertent production, at which point all receiving counsel shall return any such inadvertently produced materials to the producing party or third person. After return of the materials, any claim of privilege or work product may be submitted to the Court for determination.

13. If at any time a party objects to a designation of information as pursuant to paragraph 5, the objecting party shall so notify the designating party in writing. The notices shall identify the information in question, and shall specify in reasonable detail the reason or reasons for the objection. Within fifteen (15) business days of the receipt of such notice (or such other mutually agreeable time period), the designating party may apply to the Court for a ruling on the continued status of the information. The application shall set forth in reasonable detail the reasons why the designating party believes the information is entitled to the designated status. The designated status of the information shall be maintained until final ruling on the application.

14. Nothing in this Protective Order shall prevent disclosure as required by law or compelled by order of Court. If any third party moves to compel a party to this action to produce any Discovery Materials designated pursuant to paragraph 5, such party shall notify the party who originally produced such Discovery Materials that a motion has been made in order to allow the party who originally produced such Discovery Materials the opportunity to oppose the motion. In addition, if a party is ordered to produce Discovery Materials covered by this Protective Order, notice of the order compelling disclosure shall immediately be given to the party that produced such Discovery Materials.

15. Nothing in this Protective Order restricts the use a party may make of any Discovery Materials produced or generated by it in this action provided that such Discovery Materials contain no Confidential Information or contain only the Confidential Information of such party.

16. This Protective Order shall continue to be binding after the conclusion of this action except that a party may seek the written permission of the producing party or further order of the Court with respect to dissolution or modification of this Protective Order. The Court shall retain jurisdiction to enforce or modify this Protective Order.

17. At the conclusion of this action, including any appeals from any judgment or order entered by this Court and any retrial, counsel shall at their option either return all Discovery Materials designated as pursuant to paragraph 5 that were produced to counsel by the other party and certify in writing that all such Discovery Materials have been returned; or store or destroy all such Discovery Materials in such a manner as to preclude disclosure of the Discovery Materials to persons other than those specified above, and subject to the terms, conditions and restrictions of this Protective Order.

THEREFORE, a Protective Order is hereby entered in accordance with the terms set forth above.
